Down's Syndrome Association

Organisation details

Description of activity

The DSA Helpline offers information, support and advice on any question or concern you have related to Down's syndrome. Please call us and ask to speak to one of our information officers, who will be happy to talk through your questions or concerns with you. Whilst we don't claim to have all the answers, we are here to help, and sometimes simply talking through your situation with someone else can be helpful.
