Attention Deficit Disorder Information and Support Service (ADDISS)

Organisation details

Description of activity

ADDISS provides information, training and support for parents, sufferers and professionals in the fields of ADHD and related learning and behavioural difficulties. All our activity is supported by our Professional Board of expert advisers.

We support a multi-disciplinary assessment and treatment protocol, including education and behavioural interventions, with or without medication. We always keep an open mind and try to help families find their own most appropriate approach to intervention.

The ADDISS Resource Centre has a large range of books and videos covering all aspects of ADHD and related conditions, as well as a reference library where you can look up articles. Please feel free to visit us and explore our facilities for yourself.

We hold a 3-day national conference each year, bringing together professionals and people living with ADHD - see our Conference section for more details.

ADDISS is a registered charity, run by volunteers and staff. Income from our Bookstore and conferences directly funds our work, together with donations and grants. You can receive our regular newsletter, as well as updates to our catalogue of resources and news about forthcoming events in the world of ADHD, by subscribing to ADDISS.
