Organisation details

Description of activity

WeCanAccess.com is an accessible website where disabled people, their families and carers can find support and information about how to access places, services and goods.

www.wecanaccess.com has:

Discussion boards – Join in the conversations around everyday issues (e.g. transport, education, employment, etc.) and talk to other families and professionals that can help and support you.

A review area – where you can search and leave quick and easy reviews of places that do access well and it's not just about physical accessibility, it highlights sensory features or when the staff go that extra mile too!

Blogs – all about how to do accessibility and inclusion well.

A marketplace – for accessible goods - ranging from adapted clothing, to waterless shampoo!
